The brakes

"I think we'd better grab the driver, not the car," said Aldo Cairra, Jr. (right). His decision was precipitated by the previous pilot having failed to stop when his car did, resulting in one flying boy. Cairra and Mark Waruszyla were providing brakes for racers in the soap box derby held last Thursday on School Street. The grin on the face of the driver, Dave Lux, is that of a losing driver.

Soap box lesson: Crime doesn't pay

For some youthful bicycle thieves, the soap box derby in Wilmington last Thursday was an elementary lesson. They learned that it is not wise to steal bicycles at an event sponsored by police officers.

The soap box derby is an annual event, run by the Wilmington Recreation, with the cooperation of the Wilmington Police Association. It is a chance for children in the town to build their own race carts, and then to compete with them, racing down the hill by the Buzzell School. It is a popular event, with hundreds of children attending. Also attending are three or four police officers helping run the races and handing out ice cream.

The presence of the police officers did not phase the bike thieves. Being the same age as the other children, the thieves fitted right in with the crowd. They cut the locks on three bicycles, and headed home with them.

When the owners of the bicycles discovered their losses, Officers Bob Shelley and Dave McCue began a search. Within 20 minutes, Shelley had not only recovered two of the bicycles, but apprehended the thieves. He also came up with a lead that is expected to result in the recovery of the other bicycle.

By going off to search for bicycles, Shelley was spared the embarrassment of the annual race between the a police officer and a recreation leader. Last year, Shelley's cart went off the road, and Ron Swasey won. This year, the race was between Officer McCue and Jim Gillis, with Gillis winning.

South Street neighbors worried after fatal fire

by Elaine DePasquale

The recent fatal fire on South Street in Wilmington has sparked concerns about fire protection among residents of the neighborhood. Nearly 30 of them turned out at the selectmen's meeting at the Town Hall on Monday night, looking for answers.

The residents came armed with a list of questions for firefighters about methods used to fight the fire. Although the firemen, who were also present, were able to provide satisfactory answers to many of the residents' questions and to clear up most of what appeared to be a misunderstanding, one point emerged as crucial.

People who live on the outermost fringes of a town with a centrally located fire station, such as Wilmington has, cannot expect to have fire protection as efficient as those who live closer to the center of town, unless a clearly defined system of mutual aid which works instantly and automatically is established with neighboring communities.

The fire, which occurred on July 8, claiming the lives of Richard and Helen Chambers, was on the remote side of Silver Lake, near the Tewksbury line.

Why, the residents wanted to know, did the Tewksbury fire fighters arrive after Wilmington, when the South Tewksbury substation is less than nine-tenths of a mile away and the centrally located Wilmington station is over three miles away.

The answer came from a Tewksbury fireman who explained that under ordinary circumstances Tewksbury did not receive a call for a fire until after the Wilmington fire department had arrived on the scene and assessed its seriousness.

Ron MacMullen, of Radcliffe Road, said that in Somerville, where he once lived, a system of line boxes on the outlying perimeter of the city automatically notified departments in the city and in the adjoining town of fires which occurred near a town line. The few moments thus saved, said MacMullen often made the difference between saving and losing lives.

In Wilmington, however, where many of the calls to the fire department are made by telephone, which department to notify is usually left to the discretion of the caller.

The issue of cost was also raised. "We must try to operate within our budget," said another Tewksbury fireman. "We can only have so many men on duty. To sent out everybody to every call would be catastrophic." He added, "All fire protection is a gamble."

Chairman of the Board of Selectmen Aldo Cairra wondered whether or not some arrangement could be worked out with Tewksbury to accept calls from areas near the town line if appropriate funding could be arranged.

The discussion also raised once more the feasibility of constructing fire department sub stations in outlying areas of town.

Selectman James Banda told the crowd that the Board of Selectmen had repeatedly tried to get sub stations in Wilmington, but their proposals had always been rejected at the Town Meeting. He admitted that it was a costly endeavor; but Arthur Bibau, one of the spokesmen for the citizens' group, said "We don't mind spending money for a purpose like this."

"We are in a bad area," said Bibau, citing the reduced access to Lake Street, Grove Avenue and Shawheen Street because of the blocking off of the Lake Street bridge to route 129.

Cookout and K of C Olympics

The Wilmington Recreation Department and the Knights of Columbus will hold a family night cookout and the annual K of C Olympics on Thursday afternoon and evening, beginning at 5 p.m. on the W.H.S. football field.

The cookout will be held at 5:00, and the Olympics events will begin at 6:15. All children registered at the playgrounds are welcome to attend the cookout, along with their families. The Olympics are the finals of events held earlier in the week.

college graduates, once a major source of substitute material, to become discouraged and leave the teaching profession.

To counter this, Razzibone said, Temp Ed was actively stepping up its interviewing process. In the past the firm interviewed only in its Wakefield office. Now, however, plans are being made to conduct interviews in Wilmington and Tewksbury in the hope that this will encourage more local people who have the necessary qualifications to apply.

Another area, he said, Temp Ed was looking into was feasibility of hiring unemployed professional people. School Committee Chairman Lester White questioned, however, how many of these people would be certified teachers.

Razzibone said that they pay scale in Wilmington fell within the "low-medium" range when compared with surrounding towns. Currently substitutes receive $110 for a five day week.

"At MacDonalds," said McMenimen, "they can get $106 and know they can work every day." She added that she thought that being a substitute required "a truly dedicated person who has always wanted to teach."

Committeeman John Brooks took issue with her remarks. He said he could get statistics which indicated that the market was flooded with teachers who have not been able to get appointments.

Brooks also chided the Temp Ed representatives for not having taken steps earlier to obtain more substitutes and for requesting teachers to notify Temp Ed of impending absences 24 hours in advance when a 6:00 a.m. deadline was specified in the contract.

Temp Ed is slated to begin interviewing August 15 for fall substituting positions. According to Razzibone, they hope to be interviewing in Wilmington before September 1.

Brooks requested that Temp Ed report back to the School Committee the number of Wilmington people they have been able to recruit after the fall interviewing sessions have been completed.

Sewer construction claims

Two sevenths of the $7 million sewer through Wilmington is being constructed. Both contractors are nearly on schedule, and it seems fair to say they will complete their work before the first of September.

Both, however, have claims against the Board of Sewer and Water Commissioners.

The commissioners, last Thursday settled a claim of Pacella, the contractor who is working north of Burlington Avenue and Shawheen Avenue. Two hundred feet of 30 inch sewer main had to be relaid, near Sweetheart Plastics, and the commissioners agreed to a payment of $74 a foot.

There was a lot of "boiling sand" on this site - water that coming up from deeper soil, causing a very unstable soil condition. After the sewer main was in position it was determined, by means of a laser beam, that it was three inches too low in one place and six inches too low in another. The Pacella firm had to smash the pipe, and then take out the pieces, before laying new pipe.

Still to be done, near Sweetheart Plastics, is the paving of the ground. Ernest Fagerstrom, project engineer, wants a final check for accuracy before this is done.

The firm of Masoncraft is doing the work southerly of Burlington Avenue, down to Eames Street. Some of their claims have been settled, and others are still hanging fire.

The firm is to be reimbursed for the relaying of 224 feet of sewer in the area back of the car wash, on Main Street. The sewer pipe had settled six inches, in an area of "boiling sand."

Work that has not been done yet includes the laying of eight hundred feet of sewer near the Raffi & Swanson plant on Eames Street. It is anticipated that a lot of "boiling sand" will be found in this area. An argument exists, about extra well points, at the Raffi & Swanson plant and elsewhere, used or to be used in "dewatering." The price is in the neighborhood of $36 thousand.

Masoncraft also has to cut through the ledge near the Town Farm bridge on Main Street. Involved is a lot of volcanic rock, and there is no telling what happens when people drill into volcanic rock.

Masoncraft has a contract price of $30 a foot, for the sewer. In the area of Main Street, where the rock is, it is now asking for $60 a foot.

Of perhaps passing interest is an experience that the firm had, at a point about 300 feet south of Butters Row.

A crew of drillers had gotten down to the level of the "boiling sand" whence comes the water that has plagued the construction of the sewer.

This time, however, it was not water that came shooting out of the drill pipe. It was rock - bigger than a man's fist. It came out of that pipe much like a projectile, aimed for the moon.

No decision on coaches' grievance

A hearing last week on a grievance petition filed by the Wilmington Teachers' Association (WTA) against the School Committee has failed to result in agreement, said Steve O'Brien, WTA bargaining representative.

The grievance was filed in response to the School Committee's recently adopted policy requiring all athletic coaches to re-apply annually for their jobs.

Consequently, the matter will go into arbitration. The School Committee however has asked for an extension until September 30, to decide whether or not to retract the policy.

Joseph Murphy, a consultant for the Massachusetts Teachers' Association which is representing the Wilmington teachers, said that he considered enactment of the policy, without notifying the teachers involved, a "reckless action."

The WTA has stated that they consider the policy to be a violation of past practice procedures, the Preamble, Article 1 and Appendix E of the teachers' contract.

One of the major reasons for instituting the policy, according to School Committee Member Linda McMenimen, was that the School Committee has no hand in appointing individuals to the teaching positions. The present procedure calls for the athletic director to make recommendations on the appointments to the superintendent of schools.

"Some coaches are stagnant in their positions," said Committeeman James Tighe. "Even though the problem is there, the evaluations don't show it. Every teacher we have is at least the equivalent of Archibald Cox and all our coaches are wonderful," he quipped sarcastically.

Murphy stressed, however, that a matter such as this should have been brought up with the superintendent of schools and was not a reason for wholesale dismissal of the coaching staff.

Wilmington has recently hired a new athletic director, James Martin. "Let the man do his job," said Murphy.

Committeeman Phil Fenton questioned whether or not coaches actually were covered under the teachers' contract. Article 1 of the contract, he said, names professional employees, teachers and librarians, but does not specifically mention coaches.

Murphy refuted this argument on the grounds that coaches are teachers hired to teach a sport to a group of youngsters. That's like saying that if English teachers aren't specifically mentioned then they aren't covered under the contract, he said.

School Committee member John Brooks asked Murphy if he thought there were something "illegal or improper" in the annual retesting of coaching jobs.

"Very few things are immoral in and of themselves," said Murphy, but "certainly there is an impropriety because there are people who have worked many years in this school system."

Two weeks ago, Superintendent of Schools Walter Pierce re-appointed all the coaches who had re-applied for their jobs. There was evidently competition for at least one of the positions, however.

"I think it was a disgrace," said Tighe. "How could you do that when there was another candidate who wasn't even interviewed?"

"I must stand by my actions," said Pierce.

Barbo's Reupholstery still the same

Barbo Reupholstery Inc., long a landmark at 287 Main St., Stoneham moved to new and larger facilities at the corner of Main and Hancock streets on July 1. The telephone number will remain the same - 438-1350.

"Our new store is right down the street and we will continue the time-honored Barbo tradition of fine upholstered furniture at honest prices," President Joe Barbo said.

Although Barbo Furniture was sold last December to outside interests, Barbo Reupholstery is still very much in business, independent of the furniture store, Sal Barbo Vice-President and treasurer explained.

"A new, aggressive advertising campaign, heard on many Greater Boston radio stations, has led many customers to believe that Barbo Reupholstery has been dissolved.

"Such is not the case," Barbo said. "We are solvent - in fact, prosperous - and we intend to stay that way. We hope our customers will not be confused by high-powered ads or generalized articles which might lead them to think otherwise."

The Barbo name has been associated with top grade upholstery since 1932. With more than 5,000 fabrics available in 15,000 color combinations, Barbo Reupholstery will continue to offer customers free pick-up and delivery, a "Shop at Home" service and free decorator consultations and estimates.

"Thousands of businesses have also taken advantage of Barbo's free professional advice over the years," Joe Barbo said.

"We have always used the highest quality materials," he explained. "We have the know-how and the skilled craftsmen at our factory to offer the very best in custom reupholstery."

Wilmington in semifinals

Wilmington's Junior Rec girls softball team has advanced to the semifinals of the Burlington Invitational Tournament after wins over North Reading and Wakefield last weekend. The team will now battle Stoneham Saturday afternoon in semifinal action. Game time Saturday is still tentative.

Friday night the girls lost to Billerica 7-2 despite a long triple by Karen Andres and two key hits by Lisa Pellerin. Brenda Baker tossed an eight-hitter as seven errors led to the Recs loss.

Sunday afternoon the Recs avenged an early season 3-0 defeat to North Reading with a 12-6 rout. The Recs blew the game wide open with a seven run third inning featuring hits by Colleen Pierce, Moira Donnelly and a bases clearing double by Baker. Brenda pitched the distance, allowing only seven hits and three walks.

Sunday night the Recs defeated

Wakefield 10-6. Jean Robinson pitched a strong five innings with help from an excellent two inning relief stint by Baker.

The key defensive play of the game was a throw from leftfielder Eileen Woods to thirdbaseman Lisa Pellerin who relayed the ball to catcher Laurie Belbin for a big out that cut short a four run Wakefield rally.

Mets win championship

The championship of the Minor League Division of Wilmington Little League was decided on Saturday, July 8. The Mets continued a nine-game winning streak by defeating the Reds 12-11 and becoming the 1978 champs.

During the entire season the Mets, who are known off the field as Dave Bavota, Chris Dawe, Mark Eddy, Michael Elia, Richard Ferrari, Susan Gillespie, Kelley Hennigan, Mary Linehan, Ken Logan, Mary-Beth Quinn, Ed Sampson, Peter Stevens, Chuckie Stokes, Steve Strong and Scott Williamson, managed to win 15 of a 17 game schedule, averaging 16 runs for as opposed to six runs against per game.

Craig, All-Stars clip Woburn West 5-3

The District 13 girls softball playoffs began in Woburn Monday night, and for the first time in the Little League post season history a Wilmington girls All-Star squad was involved. The girls made the most of their first playoff shot as Wilmington edged Woburn West 5-3 behind the pitching of Sandra Craig and a first inning rally that produced three runs after the visitors loaded the bases with none out.

The local All-Stars jumped to a 5-2 lead after three innings as they chipped away for two scores in the top half of the third. Woburn scored single runs in the first, third and the bottom of the sixth when they loaded the bases with two outs. A Craig wild spell got her in the last inning hole as Sandy walked three Woburn batters. A single scored the third Woburn run before Craig and her mates escaped a heartbreaking Woburn comeback when a lineout to firstbaseman Ann Ryan ended the game and sent Wilmington on to Acton tonight (July 19) to battle a tough Colonial North squad in the second round of playoff action.

Craig's most important escape of the night came in the bottom half of the fourth when Woburn failed to score after loading the bases with nobody out.

Shortstop Joan Sullivan was the big stick for Wilmington with three hits and a pair of runs batted in. Ryan chipped in with two RBI's and leftfielder Leanne Washburn helped out with an RBI for the winners.

Shortfielder Sherri Sencabaugh banged out three hits and scored two of the five runs while centerfielder Cheryl Olson scored twice and leadoff

On to Acton

Wilmington's Little League softball squad topped Woburn West Monday night and will travel to Acton tonight (July 19) for their second playoff game.

hitter-catcher Diane Foley scored once for Wilmington.

The visitors played solid fundamental softball throughout the game with defense helping to cut the Woburn West offense short in the early innings. Ryan's stab of the last out was one of the many fine Wilmington plays. Pat Cassidy was outstanding at thirdbase and catcher Foley was her dependable self back of the plate.

The fine infield play of Sullivan, Chris McMenimen and Susan Carpenter helped Wilmington turn the trick in Woburn.

Outstanding outfield play was turned in by Washburn, Olson, Cheryl Evans, Gina Rinaldi, Charlene Branscombe and Sandra Sferrazza.

Manager Norma MacDonald and coach Barbara Carpenter will now prep their talented squad for tonight's game in Acton.

Recs blank Reading

The Wilmington Recs took over second place in the Northeast League on Monday night with an impressive 2-0 win over Reading.

Bill Liston notched his third victory with a five hit effort. The Recs' scoring was bunched into the first inning. With two outs, Steve Woods doubled and scored when Chris Nolan belted a home run.

Scott Richards and Rich Scanlon were defensive standouts. Scott had six assists at third base and Rich made an excellent catch in the sixth.

Chelmsford 7-Recs 0

Chelmsford shut out the Recs 7-0 behind the two hit pitching of Mark Law.

For four innings, the ball game was a pitcher's duel with Liston matching Chelmsford's Law out-for-out, but in the fifth and sixth innings the Recs' defense collapsed, allowing six unearned runs in two innings.

Wakefield 4-Wilmington 3

The Wakefield Townies upset the Wilmington Recs 4-3 Friday night.

Neil Wetzler allowed just two hits in taking the loss. A walk and two errors set the stage in the third inning for three Wakefield runs, capped by Billy Roberto's two run single. A walk, a stolen base and a single in the fifth gave Wakefield the winning run.

The offensive punch for Wilmington was provided by Chris Nolan's two hits and one RBI; Mark Hurley's two hits and one RBI; and Rich Scanlon's three hits.

The Senior League All-Stars were 2-1 winners in Maynard. The team will host Sudbury tonight (July 19). Kneeling, l.-r.: Paul Davey, Walter Surrrette, Rick Zambarnardi, Dan Gentile, Mark Deyab, Ronnie Lange

Morris, Mosher pace 2-1 thriller

Bob Morris' bases loaded single with two outs in the eighth inning combined with the stingy relief pitching of Steve Mosher to give the Wilmington Senior League All-Stars a 2-1 win over Assabet Valley in playoff action at Maynard High School Tuesday night. Wilmington now hosts Sudbury tonight (July 19) at the high school field starting at 5:45.

The Morris hit scored Keith MacDonald with the winning run and gave Mosher the win. Steve worked three and two-thirds innings allowing just one hit and fanning four and walking none in relief of starter Rusty Rose.

The Wilmington Stars scored their first run in the opening frame when Rick Zambarnardi was hit by a pitch, stole second, went to third on a passed ball and scored on Dan Gentile's single.

Walter Surrrette was outstanding at thirdbase for the winners with three fine plays while firstbaseman MacDonald made several fine tags around the bag.

SPORTS

Letter to the sports editor

Dear Rick:

It is not the policy of the Recreation Commission to defend its programs through the news media. I take exception to a recent letter to the Sports Editor (July 12 edition) as the Commissioner of the Men's Adult Softball Program - Not - as a member of the Recreation Commission.

Although I firmly support Mr. O'Reilly's observations of the crowded, unsafe and poor playing conditions of most school fields, I must correct his statements on the Town Park.

1. The maintenance of the Town Park is performed by the Cemetery-Parks Department, headed by Francis Downs (who at one time handled all the ball parks in town in the same manner as the Town Park).

2. The maintenance of the school fields is handled entirely by the school maintenance department.

3. Currently, the field is being used not only by the Men's League, but by the Senior and Junior Girls and the Junior Boys one-pitch on Sundays, 4-11 p.m.; Monday-Friday, 5-11 p.m.; and Saturdays, 9 a.m.-5 p.m. This totals 45 hours of league time, not maintenance time. One hour a day is used for lining the field, and the remainder of the maintenance is performed during normal working hours.

4. The temporary fence at the Town Park: As a member of the Adult Softball League, Mr. O'Reilly paid a $5.00 registration fee to play in the league, as did all the ballplayers, with all the receipts to be used for the fence. The total cost was in the vicinity of $1,500, with the actual cost of the fence at $1,189.81 and the remainder used for cement, sand, sleeves, etc. The erection costs were eliminated by a group of players who volunteered their services on a Saturday to put it up. This was completed at no cost to the Town, and has been donated by the League to the Town. (It has also been designed to be removed during the Pop Warner and winter sport seasons with the remaining supports covered over to eliminate safety hazards to others using the field.)

We on the Recreation Commission recognize the need for more ball fields to relieve the crowded conditions. We are currently doing a study on a recreation complex for the town. A model of the complex is on display in the library, with brochures outlining the concept of the complex. We urge all interested parties to support the program and to contact the Recreation Office with any views you might have.

Sincerely,
Jack Cushing
Commissioner, Wilmington

Soap box derby results

The Swain girls and the Glen Road boys playground crews were the top point getters in last Thursday's Police Association Soap Box Derby at the Swain School.

Driver Donna Taylor and her pusher Nancyne Sullivan led the way with a win for the Swain School in the six-eight-year-old division. The Swain's Corrine Lesko also drove for a win in that division with help from pusher Cathy Nistico.

In the nine and 10-year-old class the winners were driver Lisa Blaisdell and pusher Barbara Shdeed from the Wildwood and the Swain team of Kelly Kavanaugh and Regina DePasquale.

Driver Denise Foley got a good push from Mary Olshaw to give the Shawsheen playground a win in the 11-12-year-old division.

The Glen Road playground boys breezed to a win with a 7-3 edge over second place Wildwood. The team of Peter Chase and John LoVetere headed the winning Glen Road crew with a first place finish in the 1112-year-old division.

Driver Brian Sughrue and pusher

Dennis Moran picked up the lone Woburn playground point with a win in the 11-12 group.

Wildwood and North snapped Glen Road's hold on the top spots with wins in the nine-10-year-old division. Driver Steve Pillar was sent on his winning way by pusher John Armstrong as Wildwood took a first while the team of Jeff Greco and John Grant were winners for the North in the nine-10-year old class.

The Glen Road was triggered by a sweep in the six-eight-year-old division as driver Jim Pelletier and pusher Tony DeSantis roared to victory. Gary Blonigan was sent down the hill by Eric Juergens to complete the Glen Road sweep in that division.

Point totals for boys and girls:

| Wildwood | 3 points |
| Woburn | 1 point |
| North | 1 point |
| Girls | |
| Swain | 5 points |

Monte Gilardi WHS '88
Earlier this year, a great deal of publicity was given to the alleged "unnecessarily tough" training imposed upon state police candidates during the course of their studies. That class graduated on July 8 and there was at least one W.H.S. graduate included.

Monte Gilardi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gilardi of Byron Street, Wilmington graduated from the State Police Academy at Framingham on July 8 and is currently assigned to Sturbridge.

The 1968 graduate of WHS is also a graduate of Andover Institute of Business, Class of 1970. He is married to the former Diane Towers of Burlington and they are now living in Billerica.

Father Roger Charbonneau, former deacon of St. Dorothy's Parish has been appointed pastor of St. Isidore's Parish in Montgomery Center, Vermont.

Father Charbonneau served as deacon here while studying at St. John's Seminary and among other things, was the much-loved leader of CYO activities for St. Dorothy's. He left Wilmington seven years ago when he was assigned to St. Anthony's Church in Burlington Vermont and was later ordained at Newport, Vermont.

The ceremony installing Father Charbonneau as pastor of St. Isidore's took place on July 17 with the Rev. George Murtagh, deacon of Franklin County and pastor of St. Mary's Parish in St. Albans, Vermont, offering the vows. Several members of St. Dorothy's Parish attended the services in Montgomery Center, including Mr. and Mrs. Bill Manning Sr. of Lloyd Road, Wilmington; Dot and Len Boyden of Nichols Street and the McGinley family, formerly of Middlesex Avenue, now of Tewksbury.

From the tannery

The Town Crier on July 12th showed a picture of Harriman's tannery. In front were shown three small buildings, in each of which was stored apparatus to use against fire.

When the tannery was torn down, in March, 1961, Wilmington policeman John Markey asked for one of the little houses. It now rests in his back yard and is used for the storage of garden tools.

Solution proposed for parking lot problems

A Wilmington resident has proposed a viable and practical solution to the problem of parking spaces along the North Wilmington parking lot for a drag strip.

Anne Linehan, of Dadant Drive, suggested to the selectmen Monday night that the town should install a divider barrier similar to those used along the edges of the highways in the middle of the lot, marking parking spaces with yellow lines. This, she said, would prevent cars from "building up steam."

Linehan said the parking lot came to her attention when she watched one driver spin "wheelies" with his vehicle. Another possibility, said Linehan, would be to close the lot at 8:30 p.m.

"On summer nights they have crash-up derbies there," she said, "and in winter they are sliding all over the place."

The selectmen all agreed that the plan made sense and asked Town Manager Sterling Morris to look into the matter.

Traffic supervisors protest

Several of the traffic supervisors were present at the selectmen's meeting Monday night to present "specific language" for items in the police rules and regulations they would like to see changed.

The traffic supervisors, who had appeared at a June meeting with a similar intent in mind, had been told by the selectmen to consult with Town Manager Sterling Morris.

According to Dorothy Charbonnier, a spokeswoman for the group, they were advised by Morris to "submit specific language if we wanted anything changed."

At Monday's meeting they proposed four amendments to the police rules which were adopted, and approved by the selectmen last February, they say, without consulting them.

There was a good deal of discussion on the amendments which, according to Selectman James Banda, were mixed with items which more properly belonged at the bargaining table.

Some of the items, however, dealt with duties the traffic supervisors had been performing prior to the adoption of the rules and regulations and had not been allowed to perform since.

In essence, the amendments sought to return to the traffic supervisors' patrol duties they once held; to make provision for substitute traffic supervisors, pay for attendance at monthly meetings and outside work details for the traffic supervisors; and to establish the duties of their supervisor, Sergeant Mary Anne Langone.

Several of these items, the selectmen agreed, should involve collective bargaining. They decided that the most prudent action would be to discuss only those which they felt related solely to the rules and regulations.

"The crux of the matter is that certain duties were taken away by the rules and regulations," said Aldo Cairra, chairman of the board of selectmen.

"I honestly feel what they had before they deserve now," he said to an accompanying round of applause.

In other business, the selectmen voted to allow their original decision, to grant a taxi license to John Salivato of Billerica, to stand. Last December they granted a license to Salivato. In May, however, they learned of an old ruling which specified that in order to obtain a taxi license in Wilmington, an applicant must be a resident of the town. They decided to reconsider the license and send the matter to the town counsel for a ruling. In a recent letter to the selectmen, however, Town Counsel Alan Altman implied that it was illegal to discriminate against someone because they did not live in Wilmington.

"That's an odd one," said Cairra. "I can't understand how it got by before." Referring to selectmen Rocco DePasquale and Bob Cain who are both Wilmington businessmen, he joked "It would be nice for Rocco to say nobody can have a restaurant in town unless they were a resident and for Bob Cain if no one could have an insurance business in town unless they were a resident."

The selectmen also decided to close the town hall annex, once the Wilmington Public Library, and move all town offices located there into the Whitefield School on a temporary basis.

They voted to disband, as a selectmen's committee, the Community School Study Committee.

A proposal the committee had introduced at the last Town Meeting to begin a Community Schools program was rejected by the voters.

Said Cairra "If they want to keep functioning as a private committee, that's up to them. I don't think we as elected officials should overrule the Town Meeting."

School Committee approves computer purchases

by Elaine DePasquale
A $14,000 transfer of funds was approved by the School Committee last week to allow for the purchase of additional hardware for the school department's Digital mini-computer.

According to the plan approved by the School Committee, the third and final payment of $14,187 on the school computer would be made from available federal funds, leaving an identical amount in the School budget for the purchase of new equipment.

Data Processing Director William Spencer made recommendations totalling $13,510 to upgrade the school computer and increase its potential capabilities to a point where, in the future, it could handle financial accounting and bookkeeping activity associated with Chapter 766 competency-based testing as well as the three functions currently planned: report cards, attendance and class scheduling.

At the present time, using software from Timeshare, Inc., the computer has completed the report cards for the year and is being utilized to compile attendance reports. Because Timeshare is withdrawing from the area of student records, however, a new software supplier must be located. In addition, Timeshare will not be able to provide software for the scheduling function and the School Department has had to contract with Westinghouse to have the scheduling done.

Among the items Dr. Spencer recommended for the computer was an expanded memory which he says is essential in order to get the new system implemented, a batch processor which will enable the computer to work a 24-hour day, and acoustic coupler which would give it a second terminal capability, and a cabinet to store discs.

The new additions also entail maintenance and installation charges.

Another cost which should be expected, according to Spencer, is approximately $550 every two years to update the system. "We have a machine that is walking instead of running," said Spencer.

"I thought we were buying a Cadillac when we purchased this equipment, and we would not have any problem for a few years," said School Committee member James Tighe.

"If the Timeshare contract had worked, that would have been true," explained Superintendent of Schools Walter Pierce. He termed the unexpected problem "a financial surprise."

However, Spencer insisted that "even if their software had worked, I would still say our computer is walking, not running."

School Committee member Linda McMenimen asked what the total budget for the next year would be if all recommendations were ap-

Unclaimed money in bank accounts

The state treasurer's office has released an "unclaimed money list" of Massachusetts residents, organizations and firms who are entitled to more than $7.9 millions in unclaimed money, in bank accounts.

There is no such thing as a statute of limitations on unclaimed money held in trust, in the state account. Parties to whom the money belongs can claim their money at any time, and until they do, it is kept in the state General Fund. The individuals to whom the money belongs can claim their money from the 12th floor office of the McCormack Building, Ashburton Place, Boston. There are forms that must be filled out to justify the claim. The office can be called by phoning 1-800-392-6137.

Retires

Mrs. Louise Miceli (left) of Dadant Drive, North Wilmington, has retired after working as a packer for Diamond Crystal for 14 years. On Friday, fellow employees and a few other friends held a brief party for her in the plant. Shown with her are her supervisor, George Flibotte, and Edith Zambardi, a close friend who worked with Mrs. Miceli until her own recent retirement.

Rides for seniors
The Minuteman Home Care Corporation now has rides to the nutrition site in Burlington on Tuesdays and Thursdays, for senior citizens.

The van is capable of transporting people who have mobility problems, and people in wheelchairs. There is a volunteer, who will help people get into or leave the bus. Seniors are encouraged to try this service.

Call 272-9552 for an afternoon trip, and to meet some new friends in Burlington, at the Friendship Center.

Council on Aging meetings
People who would like to understand how the Council on Aging operates, and who might want to have some input into the Council's policies are encouraged to attend the Council's meetings. The Council meets the first Monday of the month at the Drop-in Center, Wilmington Plaza, beginning at 7 p.m. The Council on Aging feels that citizen opinion does matter, and encourages attendance. The Council also encourages citizens to keep up on services offered to seniors.

Afternoon whist parties
On the second and fourth Monday of each month the arts and crafts committee offers a whist party. Prizes are donated by the Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs of Wilmington. The card games begin at 1 p.m. at the Drop-in Center. This is a new starting time.

Take a walk
The Senior Citizens' Walking

Program has been quite successful. Many seniors have been enjoying walks one, two or three times a week. Senior citizens who would like a morning out, and could use some refreshing exercise are encouraged to call the Drop-in Center, 657-7595.

Think snow!
Just because the weather is warm is no reason to forget that the cold winds of winter will be coming. If your home could use some repairs, caulking, insulation, storm windows, etc. in order to prepare for winter, and you could use some help, go to the Drop-in Center. The Drop-in Center has applications for Winterization Programs, which are sponsored by Community Team Work, in Lowell. There are income guidelines, for the Winterization Program and they are a little more stringent than the fuel program, but those who want assistance should stop by to see whether or not they qualify.

Free legal advice
Every Wednesday, at 11 a.m., free legal service is available for seniors. The program is held at the Drop-in Center. The Senior Citizens' Law Project is sponsored by the Woburn Council of Social Concern, and it has been very helpful to many seniors in Wilmington.

Seniors may make an appointment by calling the Woburn Council of Social Concern at 935-6495. Walk-in clients are cared for only after all those with appointments.
